

Unlocking a love of reading for dyslexic children

FREE support group for World Book Day – 2nd March, online 10am

Would you like to support your dyslexic child with their enjoyment of reading? Would you like advice, hints and tips on encouraging a love of reading for dyslexic children?

Join Dyslexia Sparks' FREE support group for parents and carers with a special focus on unlocking a love of reading for dyslexic children this World Book Day, Thursday 2nd March, online, 10am to 11am.

We're delighted to welcome a guest speaker from leading publisher of dyslexia-friendly books, Barrington Stoke. An independent children's book publisher, Barrington Stoke produce highly readable books designed to help all children unlock a love of reading.

Holly Francis, Barrington Stoke's School Sales Manager, will discuss the company's range of engaging books and their dyslexia-friendly features. Holly will also outline how Barrington Stoke books are designed to help reluctant readers – and how their titles break down barriers to reading.

Dyslexia Sparks' Head of Teaching and Learning, Samantha Buttle, will also give an overview of some of her top tips for how parents and carers can support dyslexic children with reading for enjoyment at home.

The session will conclude with the chance to ask any Holly and Sam any questions.

Places are free but limited and must be booked in advance. For further details and to book, please visit our Eventbrite page. A recording of the session will be sent to all registered attendees after the event.

Dyslexia Sparks is Hull and East Yorkshire's only registered charity for dyslexia. The session is held as part of our free, monthly online parent support group. Follow us on Facebook and Twitter to be kept up to date with our latest news and events.
